Three conclusions were reached by the Commission appointed by the government to investigate the "incidents" which occurred in three different ships of the Canadian Navy, which deserve particular notice.

They are contained in the following paragraphs of the Report tabled by the Defence Minister:

It was a connection between the incidents, and each succeeding incident received some encouragements from its predecessor.

7. In future, insubordination should be most severely punished.

8. In the meantime, immediate consideration should be given to a reform of the procedure governing the airing of general grievances, and to the strengthening and widening of the organization of welfare committees.

From paragraphs 6 and 7, it is clear that the lack of stern disciplinary action in the first place resulted in the further incidents; while in paragraph 8, the recommendation for reform, if carried out in the right spirit, is a welcome step forward in the interest of the men of the lower deck.

It is to be noted, also, that the Commission "deplored" the lack of recreational facilities at the naval command facilities at Seattle with the quarters and the lack of equipment, we could not be satisfied for our country's sake."

Those who have served in the Army, however—my Army—will well recall what such conduct as "refusing duty and locking the doors to their quarters" would mean for a foreign station.

Those who have served in the Army, however—my Army—will well recall what such conduct as "refusing duty and locking the doors to their quarters" would mean for a foreign station.

It is to be hoped that the recommendations of the Commission, which are outstanding in several respects, will be put into effect. We need to be able to repeat, in the language of the experienced sailor who has a Navy! "Thank God we have a Navy!"

According to a press report, Mr. G. M. Brown, independent candidate for mayor, got the worst heckling, presumably since having been a member of the city council, he had voted in favor of a resolution requesting the federal government to establish a national day of remembrance.

With that kind of record, walking into a meeting of urban landlords is almost like daring to be a Daniel. Nevertheless, Mr. Brown, unrepentant to the last, engaged with nothing worse than an uproar of verbosity.

I just can't save money!

That's what I used to say, and I was true. Sometimes I'd dream of the day when I would do, and let me tell you all the things I wanted to do, but I had to admit I was doing nothing about it except dream. I never seemed to be able to put anything aside.

Now, I know those dreams will come true. They're guaranteed.

Through a simple saving plan which, strongly enough, I've found better no harder, I am now saving money for the first time in my life.

"CANADIANS FIRST"

Demand Endorsed By All Parties

Judging by recent statements of public men, high in authority in both Dominion and provincial governments, there will be no export of natural gas from Alberta to another country until and unless binding assurances have been provided that Canadians will first be served to full extent of their demands in those areas that can be economically reached from the great fields developed in recent years.

Since the hearings of the Dining Committee, which placed minimum at 4.26 trillion cubic feet, large additions to reserves have been developed at Pincher Creek, where perhaps the largest field in all Canada was discovered by Gulf Exploration Company; Lac La Biche, northwest of Edmonton; in the Peace River country across the British Columbia line and in a dozen other fields, which early developments in recent months. The lowest estimate of a few months has probably been doubled.

Speaking in Commons, Tuesday, November 8, in discussion which arose over a private bill seeking right of incorporation of a company, which would operate over a route that would serve cities of the United States first and Canadian cities on the Pacific coast, Mr. C. D. Howe said that the Minister of the Act, under which the application for incorporation had been made, was to see that Canadian resources are used primarily for the benefit of Canada.

Howard Green (Vancouver South), pointed out that a certain company had already been granted a charter for a project, all-Canadian route, serving Alberta and British Columbia and thus benefiting areas crying for development. He suggested that such route was in the best interests of Canada, and that any company seeking such right of incorporation must present information of a specific nature as to route projected. He did not believe it was in the interests of Canada to permit the use of a great natural resource for advancement of a contiguous foreign country, however friendly, before the needs of Canadians had been met.

George Groulx, Lib. (Fredericton), D. O. Jones, C. P. (Yale), David Fulton, P.C. (Kamloops), and Major-Gen. G. R. Pearson, P.C. (Nanaimo), all endorsed this attitude. Mr. Jones winding up with: "Here we are going to hand out an asset that, properly handled, could build an Empire."

These statements are in complete accord with those already expressed by Premier Manning of Alberta, from whom in recent similar discussion in the House, a telegram was read saying that he was not against any particular company seeking export rights, but that his government's attitude was definitely on one most important point—that Canadians must receive priority before gas could be exported from the province.

Coyote Hunt May Become To Saskatchewan Farmers What Fox Hunt Means To The British

DISLEY, Sask.—The coyote hunt someday may mean to the Saskatchewan farmer what fox hunting means to the British. Saskatchewan's first organized coyote hunt was held here recently and all agreed—except the coyotes—that it was an artistic success.

A carnival spirit had this small town, 30 miles northwest of Regina, for two-day hunting. Over 400 men, armed with shotgun, took part in the organized drive, and more than one thousand persons turned up to watch.

The two-day hunt of coyotes was 27 or 28—no one was quite sure of the exact number of hunters. Although this total was not as high as had been hoped for, farmers considered the venture with the knowledge that they had made many new ones which they will repeat.

Farmers in this district decided to do something about coyotes because the wild animals were attacking poultry and livestock. A local hunter, H. C. Ellis, and Farmer W. H. Moffat took down the first coyote in the small town. The two men were again coyotes, Ellis and Moffat, by accident they made lots of village mischief.

For example, on the first day of the hunt, the men did not know they could drive. More than 300 men were in the field attempting to surround an area 12 miles square.

White Collar Mounties Solve Many Crimes

WINDSOR, Ont.—Don't tell the tourists, but there were probably more crimes solved by the White Collar Mounties than by the regular Mounties in the last year.

Inspector R. W. Wynn, of the Mounties, lifted the lid on some of the most interesting crimes of the last year. He was one of four Mounties who were in charge of the investigation of the last year.
